

Scottsdale Welcomes a Deva

Deva Premal and her partner in music and life, Miten, will be performing in Phoenix on Saturday, July 1 at The Scottsdale Center for the Performing Arts, 7380 E 2nd Avenue at 8:00 pm. Demonstrating that the power of mantra is as relevant today as it has been for thousands of years, Deva Premal & Miten have transferred their unique style of sacred contemporary music from the New Age market into the mainstream, achieving international album sales of over half a million.

Deva Premal & Miten have toured the world for the past 15 years, holding concerts and workshops all over Europe, Asia, and America – sharing their unique sound with a wide range of audiences from all walks of life – from fans of yoga and meditation to those just seeking a spiritual and calming sound to soothe the discord and cacophony of everyday life. During the concerts, Deva Premal invites her audience to experience the performance without obligatory applause – favouring introspection over gesticulation – and their style blends acapella singing with lush harmonies, acoustic guitar and Indian instruments. Deva Premal & Miten will be accompanied by Manose, a Nepalese bansuri flute player. As one recent attendee shared, “I’ve been going to concerts since 1965, but never have I experienced the peace, the joy and the depth of stillness that I felt in your concert.”
